

Summer Reading Assignment:
Where the Red Fern Grows
by: Wilson Rawls

Dear Rising Sixth Graders,

This summer, you will have the opportunity to read the book, Where the Red Fern Grows, by Wilson Rawls as your required reading. I am attaching a list of questions that need to be answered on notebook paper in complete sentences and turned in on the first day of class. You will also complete a fun “sandwich” book report on the book and take an AR test when you return to school. You will want to read carefully because during the first few weeks of school we will be doing several writing and comprehension assignments from the book.

In addition, if you would like to read for extra credit, you will receive two points of extra credit per book that you read from the extra credit list. You have the opportunity to earn ten extra points to be added to your first test grade by reading these extra books. There is a paper attached to fill out to show you have done the extra credit work. Please be honest. 😊

I can't wait to be your English teacher! If you have any questions, please feel free to e-mail me at mmsterling@curtisbaptist.org.

In Christ,

Mrs. Sterling
